This itinerary retraces the steps of the herdsmen who led their herds up from the valley floor to the mountain pastures: paths wrapped in alpine atmospheres that even today, still preserve a mysterious charm linked to the ancient legends of witchcraft and the occult that occurred in these places. It is said that at the sound of the Ave Maria, a stream of burning embers were seen rising from the locality Scala towards the hamlets of Mondadizza, Le Prese, Frontale, and Fumero: these were the witches who abandoned the Sabbath, and retreated at the first light of dawn. This superstition, like many others, identifies some places as meeting places for witches, as in the case of Scala, the verdant plateau that rises between Mondadizza and Fumero.
