From the church of Presedont in Valdentro head west and take path N288. After a small bridge the trail climbs steeply through dense forest up to Baita Belvedere, located in a secluded spot in the mountains. The track narrows and enters 'Val Cardone' before reaching a first mountain hut where it becomes a sort of wide mule track and continues towards the Baite di Cardone'. Cross the bridge over the stream and take the trail up to the top of the Corni di Verva. To the right you can ascend to the Colle delle Pecore. Take a left and, crossing an area of broken rocks, you first reach a plateau where, at the bottom of the glacier tongue of the Vedretta dei Piazzi, stands the Ferrario bivouac.

This was built in 1956 as a base for the ascent of the Cima Piazzi. It was renovated in 1988 and replaced with a more modern structure. In the same area, a little higher, there is also the Cantoni bivouac, which is also well-equipped, comfortable and an ideal starting point for the ascent of the Cima Piazzi.
