From San Antonio Valfurva, take path S567 that leads through the hamlet of San Gottardo and the mountain huts at Drezzola up to the mountain huts of Pradaccio. From here follow path S527, which climbs steeply with some bends to the mountain huts at Cavallaro. The trail continues up along a relatively level bridleway to reach the mountain huts of Confinale di Sopra, from where you have spectacular views of the entire Valfurva, Monte Sobretta and Monte Vallecetta. From here, go down through the Presure woods where you might see a squirrel or a fox to Praduris, then continue downhill along path S568 which runs back to San Gottardo and the starting point.

The fox This is the only larger carnivore remaining in the territory of the Stelvio National Park. Foxes normally live in woods, in wellhidden dens, but in summer can also be found at quite high altitudes. Around May, the vixen gives birth to up to eight young.
